Logan Downtown announces “2016 Downtown Renovation Project of the Year” Recipient

LOGAN—The Logan Downtown Alliance has awarded The Sportsman with the “2016 Renovation of the Year” award for its work in renovating a downtown historic building in the cultural heart of Logan. The Sportsman has demonstrated a substantial effort to reinvest in downtown and is being recognized for revitalizing the space and structure located at 129 North Main Street, in downtown Logan.

Constructed in 1895, this building was originally known as the Hotel Eagle. An eagle crafted into the roof parapet was removed c.1915 when the building was renamed Hotel Logan. This structure is significant as the only nineteenth-century hotel remaining in Logan. Although the remodels of 1934 and 1964 have altered the hotel's appearance, it retains historic qualities that contribute to the Logan Center Street Historic District. The Sportsman has been here since 1947.

The renovation included new façade brick, windows and molding, lighting and signage on the ground level.

The Logan Downtown Alliance invites everyone to join in our appreciation as we recognize The Sportsman as the recipient of the 2016 Downtown Renovation Project of Year award.
